BELLE GLADE — In a four and a half hour session Wednesday night, City Commission went all the way from turning down the Planning Board on a zoning change to discussing interpretations of the ordinance empowering the police department to "arrest" unlicensed dogs.

The team play in most instances again was the lineup of new Commissioners J. Marvin Unwin and J. H. Livingston, Jr. against Z. T. Ingram and E. Ashby principally in the role of intermediary.

PBI REACHES HALFWAY MARK

PAHOKEE — A little more than a year since Pahokee Builders, Inc., a group of local businessmen, started operations capitalized at $25,000 to provide middle-income houses for Pahokee, PBI is approaching a half-way point.

With the issuance this week of four more building permits totaling $42,500 for new houses, PBI's Ridge Crest Gardens has completed construction of 15 of the 30 houses originally planned for the development, according to Secretary - Treasurer Thurmond Knight.

All 15 houses, including those for which the building permits were just obtained, are sold, Knight said. Additional costs are added to the total of $30 will not be reached because some purchasers are buying two lots instead of one, and some lots are not available, Knight reported.

Lewis Friend is president of PBI. W. R. Wilson, vice president, L. Shirley, H. M. McIntosh, Louis Gold, and Wiley Tillis, directors. Tillis is construction superintendent. For PBI, the houses thus far built, according to Knight, range from $11,000 two-bedroom residences to $13,500 for three-bedroom. Additional costs are added for the "extras" many families want, he said.

Red Cross Helps Set Up CP Class

CANAL POINT — Dick Morris of Palm Beach County Chapter of the American Red Cross is helping Canal Point school to set up classes in accident prevention for seventh and eighth grade physical education classes.

The classes will get underway in about three weeks, and will be taught by Mrs. W. Kubeck and George Wilkerson, Crawford said. Next year, first aid courses are planned, the principal noted.

He reported that the school's first conference day for parents and teachers was very successful, with approximately 90% of the students' parents in attendance.

SPAGHETTI MENU BENEFIT NOV. 4

PAHOKEE — If all residents of Pahokee-Canal Point and Vero Beach will get in a spaghetti-eating frame of mind next Friday night, Xi Alpha Mu chapter of Beta Sigma Phi society will be able to buy an electric dishwasher for Everglades Memorial Hospital.

The chapter will feed all comers at the school cafeteria before the Vero-Pahokee game that night, and net proceeds will go toward the new hospital equipment, the committee said.

Mrs. Gordon Hillier, Mrs. Earl Crossman, Mrs. M. L. Keen, Mrs. Chas. Chase and Mrs. Earl Maxson are in charge of arrangements.

ULYSSES VOYAGED WRONG, 'SHIP' CAUGHT IN S. BAY

SOUTH BAY — When Ulysses West drove a red, 1950 convertible through South Bay about 4:30 p.m. Tuesday, he made the mistake of catching the eye of Patrolman Frank Cline and Police Chief Marvin Davis, out cruising.

Cline told Davis the man driving the car had no license. The couple "smiled" and Ulysses was intercepted, he didn't have a license and the car didn't have any brakes.

After a check of the car, Ulysses was released, unlike his classic namesake who had a ship, didn't really have a car, either. His "ship" was stolen from John Newby, P. A. Landale, Cline reported.

WITCHES? GOBLINS? JUST TIRED PARENTS

If there seem to be witches and goblins roaming the Glades this week, slightly in advance of Halloween, the specters probably are only exhausted mothers, dads, and citizen volunteers who are working like crazy to insure the successes of the various PTA carnivals coming up Monday night.

In Belle Glade, Pahokee, South Bay, and Canal Point, Monday is "Halloween."

Lake Harbor's event was last night, but elsewhere the work, the costume-making, the booth planning continued feverishly.

BELLE GLADE

The carnival parade will begin at 6 p.m. Monday at a red football field, with Mrs. George Wedgworth in charge, according to Mrs. Guy Wood, jr., general chairman.

There will be three prizes for each age group — for boy, girl, and most original costume. There then will be the spaghetti supper, which will be served at the cafeteria from 5 to 9 p.m. Billie Matz will have a table of punch present for the dinner hour.

There will be two rides in conjunction with the hay ride: a corn wagon drawn by a red 22 year-old mated woman, and the regular hay wagon for the teenagers. The dance will be at the old gym from 9 to 10 for the high school set, and will also be open one hour prior to that time, from 7 to 8 p.m. for those under high school age. There will also be a display of new cars beside the old elementary school.

PAHOKEE

Games, rides, booths, and contests will be located the length of the field. The sale of Mrs. Earl Maxson will be in charge of the concession.

At 7 o'clock the costume parade will begin. Prizes will be awarded in four groups, preschool, first and second grades, third and fourth grades, fifth and sixth grades, seventh and eighth grades, for the most beautiful costume, the most like Hellows, and the most like Hellows.

Refreshments will be served by the home room mothers of the teachers in the grade rooms. Refreshments for preschool children will be served in the auditorium of the school. ## Pahokee Council Slaps Schools, Helps Housing

PAHOKEE — City Council, chaired again by President Loren Meredith after a summer's absence, Monday night slapped the school board down by more spot-zoning and built up the hopes of low-rent housing for Pahokee by reaffirming the need for federal housing of that type.

In a long session, Councilman Meredith, J. H. Wilkinson, Jr., R. B. Simonson, Blanche Armstrong, and George H. Tucker, jr., first listened to R. O. Crosby's request that property be rezoned from residential to commercial.

Crosby pointed out that the school board's condemnations proceedings against property it hopes to obtain for a playground Mar. 11, 1955, and was changed from commercial to residential zoning Mar. 28, 1955 under the new zoning ordinance.

School Board Member Thurmond Knight reminded Council that the school board had been in view of the fact that Crosby had been rezoned a 30-day delay on action until the suit is settled.

Councilman Tucker pointed out that since the suit is already before the courts, Council has no interest in the financial arrangements between the school board and Mr. Crosby.

Simonson moved that the ordinance rezoning the disputed area be placed on first reading. On adoption, rule was passed and the ordinance was passed and adopted on second and final reading.

Simonson said later that with $146,000 being spent enlarging the Negro school at the present time, the board particularly the school board area for a playground, but the anticipated increase in price for the land as a result of the rezoning might preclude that.

The low-rent housing question brought a steady stream of speakers on the subject. Mayor Lewis Friend presented the letter from the Public Housing Administration asking if it would be possible to still be wanted, and if so, for Council to adopt a resolution reaffirming the need.

Dr. E. J. Graham rose to say he had originally come to the session to discuss fluoridation of city water, but "there seems to be an important business here tonight."

He related that he had just left an emergency case in colorado. He said he was planning to get drunk so that police would pick him up and give him a place to sleep that night. "As far as a project, we have the eighth annual project goes, I don't believe anybody's scared of competition, including colored people. I think we should have adequate housing."

BY SCHATZI

I am beginning to feel like the dog that wasn't.
This is a direct result of Boss No. 2 running around all week long carrying a copy of "The Bear That Wasn't," a book by Frank Tashlin that the boss says should be read once a week to children and once a day to adults.
It is a book with which I have much sympathy—the story of a bear who found himself in a factory and was accused of being a man—a silly man, that is, "who needs, shave and wears a fur coat." The only way the bear got out of that deal was because one day he found his way back to his cave, and then he knew he wasn't a silly man—or a silly bear, either.
As I was saying—there is such a thing as being a dog that wasn't, too.
Such as when the boss, with that Book in one hand and a lurid-colored paper in the other is walking around murmuring to herself.
Ah, said she, the bear that wasn't.
Wasn't what? I asked.
Wasn't a bear, naturally, she replied—holding out the lurid object.
Sakes alive, I growled softly—somebody dump a box of crayons and drive over 'em. The lurid object was a piece of paper with a mass of red, blue, green, orange, yellow, and purple color on it.
This said the boss, is a bear—only it isn't.
This bear, which has a purple rump, a red head, and is sitting atop a TV set which is sitting atop a sofa, is a very special bear—which isn't. It was drawn by my godchild Susan Jane, and therefore is remarkable, the boss proclaims.
But being mere a dog, and not a person, I disagreed with the boss that the bear wasn't. Obviously, this is a drawing of a bear that is, I said.
You're holding it upside down, she snapped.
It still looks like a bear, I growled—ominously.
We interrupted this fight just as I was about to snatch the drawing with my teeth and run off to study it further.
Suddenly we went off into enlightened mirth—the drawing was somewhat because of an allergy to the smell of crayons.
The bear that wasn't really was—because a little child believed it was, red head, purple rump, and all.
And who were the boss and I to disagree.

NITROGEN-FIXING PLANTS IN LEGUMES, FGR SAYS

Farmers will get good dividends by use of commercial inoculants in legumes, Dr. G. D. Thornton, Experiment Station soils microbiologist reports in November Florida Grower and Rancher Magazine.

Legumes have access to a supply of nitrogen other than that in the soil when root bacteria is applied, the scientist reports. The plant furnishes food and home to the nodule-forming bacteria; and in return the bacteria convert unavailable atmospheric nitrogen into a form the plant can use. There are different types of the bacteria, Dr. Thornton explains. Some strains are effective only with a given legume; others may prove ineffective. The object of inoculation is to provide leguminous plants with beneficial strains.

NOV. 1-10 SET FOR CELERY REFERENDUM

A referendum to determine whether producers of Florida celery favor the issuance of a proposed marketing agreement and order will be held Nov. 1 through 10, USDA Field Representative Minard F. Miller, of Lakeland, has announced.
Ballots and voting instructions will be mailed to all celery growers of record and any grower who fails to receive a ballot may secure one by contacting the county agricultural agent's office. Voting will be by mail. To be eligible for counting, ballots must be postmarked not later than midnight of Nov. 10. Two-thirds of the growers by number or volume of production voting in the referendum must favor issuance of the order before it will become effective.

The proposed program would authorize regulation of the volume of celery to be marketed, also the grades, sizes, and quality of the commodity. In addition to volume regulations or grade and size regulations, the committee could recommend fixing the size and dimensions of the container or containers used for shipping Florida celery under the order. Also, research and development projects related to celery marketing may be set up under the order.

Volume regulation would be for prorated periods and follow an allotment plan to individual handlers based on handler's available supply of celery computed in linear feet of rows. The committee could recommend regulations or not depending upon the supply price situation and other pertinent factors.

The proposed program would be administered by a Florida celery committee composed of nine producers with a like number of alternates. Representation on the committee would be made up by districts. District No. 1 or the South Florida district, which includes Palm Beach county, would have 3 members; the West Coast or district No. 2, including Sarasota 2 members, and Central and North Florida or District No. 3, including Sanford-Oviedo-Zellwood, would have 4 members.

Health TOPICS

EATING BREAKFAST
Many authorities think that breakfast is the most important meal. Many persons overlook this fact by not eating breakfast at all or by just depending on a cup of coffee or doughnut.

During sleep the body is at rest. Heart action slows up. There is usually a drop in blood pressure. With the start of the day's activities, however, more energy is needed. Since breakfast follows the longest period of time without eating, this first meal becomes especially important.

Studies have been made to show that in workers who omit breakfast there is increased fatigue, irritability, reduced work output, increased nervousness and slower rate of reaction time. All these factors place additional strain on the body and tend to increase one's proneness to accidents.

Why do some persons omit breakfast? Some, wishing to lose weight, erroneously believe that skipping this important meal will hurry along the weight reduction. Others leave too little time in preparing for the day's work. They get up at the last minute, hurry about their dressing, gulp a bit of food if they bother at all, and dash off to their day's activities.

How much breakfast should you have? It has been estimated that from one-fourth to one-third of the day's nutrients should be taken in the first meal. Thus, with servings of fruit or fruit juice, cereal with milk, bread and butter, you will have the required proteins, carbohydrates, fats, vitamins and minerals. With careful planning, the basic breakfast can be varied. Eggs, for example, should be included or substituted at least four times a week.

Good breakfast habits are a part of good living habits. The dividends they yield to children and adults alike cannot be duplicated for beginning the day with renewed zest and energy.

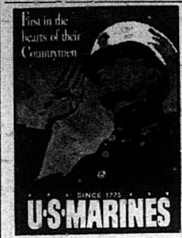

If you want to lose weight, skip between-meal snacks; but don't skip a balanced breakfast.

3 DITHANE

A choice of three DITHANE fungicides now enables you to get maximum protection against tomato disease... and to do it with the DITHANE that's best for your growing conditions and methods of application.

Whatever your choice, you can be sure of controlling all the major tomato diseases—late blight, gray leaf spot, early blight, Septoria leaf spot, anthracnose, and gray mold. What's more, all DITHANE fungicides give high rating protection against these diseases at reasonable cost.

Follow a regular spray schedule with the DITHANE fungicide you prefer, and see for yourself that tomato plants stay free of disease even under the worst blight conditions. In addition, the vines maintain a healthy, vigorous growth all season, and the yields improve in quantity and quality. You will also find that DITHANE, when used according to directions, is safe for fruit and foliage, harmless to equipment, and easy to mix.

Choose the DITHANE fungicide that you prefer from this list: DITHANE M-22 (maneb)—packed in 3 pound and 4½ pound bags for easy-to-calculate mixing in all standard sprayers.

DITHANE is a trade-mark, Reg. U.S. Pat. Off. and in principal foreign countries.

These two sizes eliminate waste from spillage, and help you shake certain the spray solution is exactly the right strength. DITHANE M-22 is particularly helpful in giving tomato plants a luxuriant, green appearance.

DITHANE Z-78 (zinob)—time proved general purpose fungicide. Recognized today as the standard fungicide material.

DITHANE D-14 (nabam)—for economical preparation of maneb or zinob.

For maximum protection against tomato diseases—the way you want it—get DITHANE from your supplier today.

For bigger, better yields USE

The proved soil fumigant

Tiny but mighty—nematodes can reduce your vegetable crop production as much as 50%. That's why so many vegetable growers depend on a preplanting D-D treatment for nematode control.

D-D is a liquid which is injected into the soil where it becomes a gas, killing nematodes. D-D is easy to use. Apply D-D with conventional gravity-flow plow equipment or a simple, inexpensive tractor attachment. In many areas, your D-D dealer can arrange for a custom application. D-D is economical. One preplanting treatment per season is all you need for effective control.

Drop in at your nearest D-D dealer today. He'll be glad to give you further information on D-D and its application.

One experiment was designed to control weeds growing in the row of celery transplanted two weeks before the directional application of herbicides. It appeared that damage to the crop, if any, was very light and control of weeds was excellent. In two other experiments the chemicals were applied just before and just after transplanting.

IT'S UP TO YOU

By Howard E. Kershner, L.H.D.

Moses ended his sojourn on Mount Sinai after one of the greatest revelations of God's will in the history of mankind. God had given Moses instructions regarding the organization of the children of Israel and the construction of the tabernacle.

The revelation had ended. Moses knew what to do. He had his instructions. It remained to carry them out. And God said plainly to him as he goes to us all, "See... that thou make all things according to the pattern shewed to thee in the mount."

Centuries later, a revelation of God's will came to Elijah on Mount Carmel. Still later Jesus stood on the Mount of Olives and gave us the revelation of the nature and love of God which we call the Sermon on the Mount. Upon another mountain the beauty and glory of God was revealed to three chosen disciples in the experience known as the transfiguration. Finally at the close of Jesus' life, on Mount Golgotha, we have a glimpse into the Supreme love of God.

To all of us come mountain-top experiences when it seems the veil is drawn aside and we come close to a realization of the beauty, power, knowledge and love of God. A sense of life's glory, righteousness, supreme grandeur and perfection permeates our being. These experiences come to all who diligently seek them. They are supremely satisfying but of short duration. We cannot always live upon the mountain tops. Soon we must go down into the busy marts of men to live our normal lives.

Here our great and continuing struggle takes place. How do we square our lives with our highest insights. When Moses came down from Sinai bearing the Ten Commandments to find an idolatrous people dancing around the Golden Calf, the contrast was so great that the vision of the great revelation which he had just experienced disintegrated and he found it necessary to retrace his steps to the top of Sinai to seek it again. How can we live lives in accordance with the best we know? We try and we fail, and we must toil again to the mountain top to seek renewal of the vision. Over and over we must repeat this experience until the ideal becomes the real and with persistent effort we find our lives changing more and more in conformity with it.

Glades Teams Travel To Gold Coast Tonight For Games

The Pahokee Blue Devils and the Belle Glade Golden Rams will be playing the greensward on the Gold Coast tonight, when the Devils face Lake Worth and the Rams take on Seacrest not too far south of there.

The loudest noise after the two teams' games last week was the sound of the Rams and Devils kicking themselves at two narrow defeats, and chances are both elevens will put up good games tonight.

TROJANS 15, RAMS 13

When two winless teams have at each other, determined to make that game the first win, the result is exciting, as it was last Friday when Lake Worth abandoned moribundity in the last four minutes of play to down the Rams 15-13.

Belle Glade started out with a roar in the opening quarter when Leon Burkett took the opening kick and tore 50 yards to score. The next Burkett forward motion was when the Rams took over a Trojan fourth down. Burkett recorded that TD, and Larry Harris passed to John Miller for the extra point.

"Lake Worth took itself a TD away the latter part of the same period, and the score stood 13-7.

Everything was going along nicely, with victory in sight, when the Rams allowed Charles Royals to be tackled in the end zone for an intentional safety. Thus the score went to 13-9, the Rams still perilously ahead. It was fourth down 11 on the Rams' 18, with a minute to go, that QB Mike McVay made a perfect pass to End Ray Maud who crossed the line standing up.

gram is not to take away from private enterprise, but to provide housing for that segment of the population for which private enterprise cannot provide," he said.

Roy Vandegrift, jr. said he favored the low-rent housing. "No matter what you call it, if a man can move in and out, that's all I want to know. These people here have an investment — as Mr. Keen said, they want more time to get more houses, well, this came up two years ago and tonight I hear of two new buildings going up."

A. J. Gamot said he wanted the city to make a survey and see how many empty rooms there are. "Plenty," he said. "Also, one of my boys got sick last weekend and I called one doctor, then another doctor, and finally reached one on my third call. We were told that said, 'I'm not afraid of letting that's fine. Let's have more housing and more doctors.'"

James H. Wilson, noting that it cost his company 50 cents per laborer in per diem to bring workers in from out of town said: "Maybe the government declared this area eligible because private enterprise has exploited housing. These gentlemen here may be more familiar with the rental situation than with the farming situation. How can 115 (the proposed project total) units be competition?"

After still more discussion, Wilson moved and Tucker seconded that the reaffirmation resolution be adopted. It was passed 3-1, with Mrs. Armstrong opposing.
